

Advantages

- Optical PushPull connector based on LC with small form factor (requires 50 % compared to SC and ST)
- EasyInstall and Compact panel feed-through for simple device integration
- Optical module with inserts acc. to IEC 61754-20
- One-piece LC body assures high mechanical stability
- A & B parts identification for Duplex according TIA 568 standard

|                               |                                                          |
|-------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|
| Locking                       | PushPull Technologyacc. to IEC 61076-3-106 variant 4 |
| Degree of protection          | IP65 / IP67                                              |
| Mating face                   | LC acc. to IEC 61754-20                                  |
| Cable diameter                | 5.8 ... 7.2 mm                                           |
| Mating cycles                 | min. 200                                                 |
| Temperature range             | -40 °C ... +70 °C                                        |
| Housing material              | Plastic, blackZinc die-cast, shining                 |
| Flammabilityacc. to UL 94 | V0                                                       |

02
11